DUFFIELD PLANS TO LEAVE COUNTY

Bristol Terrace Man Surrenders To Township Police

UNDER BAIL FOR TRIAL

A Bristol Terrace man wanted by Bristol Township police is out on bail and is reported to plan moving from Bucks County. Robert Duffield, 38, who was routed by police using tear gas, Wednesday evening, surrendered to Chief Joseph Seader Saturday.

Duffield, of Court C, Bristol Terrace, was taken to a hearing before Justice of the Peace Max M. Lawrence and remanded to the Bucks County Jail, Doylestown, in default of $500 bail. Bail was later arranged.

Lawrence held Duffield on charges of disturbing the peace, breaking and entering and malicious mischief.

Seader said he received a telephone call from Duffield's brother-in-law, Henry Hunt, of 505 E. Willey street, Philadelphia, telling him that he would surrender Duffield Saturday. The two men arrived on time.

The chief said the trouble started Wednesday when Duffield, waving a butcher knife, chased his wife from their home into the home of a neighbor, Dominick Gilardi, 32.

Unable to enter the door of the Gilardi home, he smashed the windows throughout the house. A crowd gathered and police were summoned.

With the arrival of the police, including Seader and Patrolmen Benjamin Chapin and Charles Shaw, Duffield barricaded himself in his room and shouted defiance.

The police hurled tear gas into Duffield's room. When the gas bombs set off their vapors, Duffield kicked aside the furniture in front of the door and ran into the darkness before the police could apprehend him.

UNENTHUSIASTIC JAPAN

Since few things are simple these days, the one-sided vote for the peace treaty in both houses of the Japanese Diet should not be taken as a sign of enthusiasm. The treaty restores Japan's independence, and it passed by approximately 4 to 1 for that reason. But many members of the parliament feel that its terms are either grudging or ambiguous, and they don't like it much. They aren't quite certain that Japan is not slated to become an American "satellite."

It is easy enough to retort: "What do the so-and-so's expect. They got licked, didn't they?" But it is also unrealistic, and the Japanese know it. We have belatedly awaked to the fact that Russia threatens all Asia because we destroyed Japan as a counter-balance to her power. The only practical course left open to us is to restore as much of the power of Japan as possible—without letting her become a military threat again. We need her friendship, so we have described the new pact as a "treaty of reconciliation." Under these conditions, it is not surprising that the Japanese should ask themselves whether its generous terms are generous enough.

What particularly bothers them is its provision, implemented by a separate bilateral treaty, for stationing American troops and maintaining American bases in Japan. This is essential, as long as the Korean war lasts. It will be essential after that, as long as Japan remains so weak that the United States must be responsible for her defense. But the Japanese aren't sure just how these provisions differ from overt military occupation. It will be up to us to show them.

That is where our State and Defense Departments are in disagreement. Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk, now conferring in Tokyo with General Ridgway, will soon be followed by John Foster Dulles and two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Rusk and Dulles will try to make Ridgway see the need for cutting back on military privileges for Americans when the occupation ends.

MAKE THE SEAL SALE COUNT

The American people have the opportunity, through generous purchase of Christmas Seals, to make a substantial contribution to the fund being raised to prosecute the anti-tuberculosis fight. This does not call for large individual expenditures. It does, however, stress the need for comprehensive buying of the seals. The more money raised in this way, the more effective will be the result.

Christmas Seals have a distinctive place in community life. Their use adds to the significance of letters and parcels transmitted through the mail and otherwise during the pre-Christmas season. Why not make extensive use of them on messages of good will and holiday cheer?

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol July 23, 1903. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

ANDALUSIA — Two lots on the pike were sold last week. Mrs. Joseph States purchased the one next to William Pickering, and Frank Stackhouse bought the one adjoining Lewis Walton. Both parties are anticipating building in the near future.

FALLSINGTON — A glib confidence man from Trenton last Friday cleaned up $15 in an operation in this town. He called on the wife of a local business man and explained that he had envelopes for sale containing money. To prove this he opened one that contained $10, another $5 and a third with $3. He sold 55 of these envelopes to the woman for $15, with the admonition not to open them until 4 o'clock. When opened the envelopes of course, were empty.

Ellis Comfort, the liveryman, has purchased a large stable in Trenton, and will engage in the business there. The Bristol stable will be conducted by his son, Len Comfort.

William Washington, who for many years has gathered the crops of water lilies that grow so profusely in the mill pond, declares that each year the yield for some cause, is growing less. Each year he disposes of thousands of the fragrant aquatic blooms to Chestnut street merchants.

Dr. W. LeCompte, of Langhorne, a physician and surgeon who served with the United States army during the Spanish war has rented the house at the corner of Radcliffe and Dorrance streets, now occupied by Thomas Longstreet, and will locate in Bristol to engage in the practice of his profession. Mr. Longstreet and family will move to the house on Radcliffe street, soon to be vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford L. Anderson, opposite the Catholic convent.

Edward P. Torbert, proprietor of the Springfield stock farm, near Newtown, this county, last week sold to William F. Diener, proprietor of the Robert Morris Hotel, Morrisville, a yearling stallion of royal breeding and one that will rank high in the stud in the near future. This colt has the Wilges-Mambrino-Patchen cross—a cross that has never been excelled in providing both speed and gameness. His sire, Robert J. Beck, recently purchased by Edward Smith, of Jenkintown, was the premier stallion of Springfield stock farm, and although young ranks high as a sire of extreme speed. Mr. Diener secured a great bargain.

John W. Shiner, of Upper Bensalem township, has received an appointment at the Philadelphia Customs House, after passing a creditable civil service. Gradually Bucks County is being retraced on the political map, and by straight-forward political leadership the confidence has been gained of the powers that be.

A peculiar accident happened to the 11.18 p. m. express out of Broad street when it reached Bristol last evening. The engineer found that his boiler was not feeding, that no water was passing from the tank to the boiler, and the latter had to be filled by dipping. Upon investigation it was found that the injector was clogged by the presence of tiny eels which had undoubtedly been scooped up from the track tanks.

Last Sunday proved to be an ideal day for trolley excursionists, and as a consequence the popular lines in the lower end of the county were crowded to their utmost capacity and on many trips all the would-be passengers could not be accommodated. The cars of the Philadelphia, Bristol and Trenton Street Railway, between Torresdale and Morrisville, were splendidly patronized and the division between Bristol and Morrisville ran the big cars all the afternoon with people crowded thereon to the steps. The new road between Yardley and Newtown, a distance of about ten miles upon which two cars are operated could not accommodate all the traffic offered. A popular trolley tour for persons residing hereabouts is to take the cars to Morrisville, from Morrisville to Yardley, from Yardley to Newtown, from Newtown to Bristol, the round trip costing fifty cents, the time consumed being about three hours.

Special Police Officer Here Shot in Eye While Gunning

There will be a meeting of the Bristol Basketball League tonight at seven o'clock. The managers of the teams will continue to draw up the rules and regulations for the 1951-52 season.

Eight teams are in the circuit: Prof's, Hibernians, Rohm & Haas, Fifth Ward Sporting Club, Lasciano Brothers of Tollytown, Franklin A. C., Cornwells Boys Club, and Hilltop A. A. of Neshaminy.

Tentative plans call for the league to open its season during the second week of December with the games being played on the Goodwill Hose Company floor.

Two Spans Make $1,303,129 Profit In First 3 Years

profit for the county during the three years to $1,303,129.46.

"This bears out the revised estimate," Yocum said, "that the county's ultimate profit from the two spans will be more than $12,000,000 instead of the $4,345,800 originally estimated."

The revised estimate of $13,000,000, he added, was made by Coverdale and Colpitts, nationally-known traffic engineering firm, which made the original $4,345,800 estimate upon which acquisition of the bridges was based.

"If the commission's funds were not frozen by existing litigation," Yocum said, "the sum of $1,693,331.04 would have been available for the retirement of its bonds, resulting in a further saving of $52,572.50 for the county. This savings for the three year period would have been $96,525."

Operating expenses for the year were $267,587.43, the report disclosed. This was only 11.93 percent of the gross revenue, although the spans' consulting engineers had estimated it would be 17.63 percent.

The record year boosted the total revenues produced on the two bridges since Oct. 23, 1948, when the county acquired them, to $5,584,083.73. During this period, 29,633,766 vehicles traveled over the spans.

Referring to the traffic count on the Burlington-Bristol bridge, the report stated it has more than doubled since the commission assumed operation of the span.

Yocum also pointed out that the spans had continued to set new monthly revenue records ever since.

acquisition, despite the lowering of tolls from 35 and 30 cents to 25 cents.

"The inauguration of a system of light controls and the plan of three-lane westward traffic on the Tacony-Palmyra bridge during rush hours," the report stated, "has completely eliminated any traffic jams on this bridge, even during the record-breaking days of last summer."

"Continuous attention has been paid to the maintenance of existing road signs and to the location of new signs at advantageous points on feeder highways. New road maps have been designed for the public travelling over both bridges and approximately 75,000 copies have been distributed."

A breakdown of revenues and traffic for the 12-month period, compared with the preceding year, follows:

Tacony-Palmyra bridge: Revenues, $1,885,493.70, an increase of $297,841.51; traffic, 6,557,043 vehicles, an increase of 1,094,883 vehicles.

Burlington-Bristol bridge: Revenues, $357,060.54, an increase of $83,059.67; traffic 1,323,985 vehicles, an increase of 315,785.

Solebury Twp. Feels The Building Boom

the better homes" class, and plans to build 47 more.

And in a deal just consummated, Niblock & Walton, local builders, have acquired a 28-acre tract on Reeder road which they plan to break up into 39 building lots, doing some of the construction themselves.

"We hope to keep this a nice place to live," builder Amos Walton says. "There's no building in Solebury township but that needn't mean cheap unattractive housing."

The zoning recently adopted in neighboring Upper Makefield township and which is under serious consideration in neighboring Buckingham township, is not a "hot issue" in Solebury at the moment, he said.

Two years ago, under pressure from a small group, Solebury supervisors appointed a zoning commission but results thus far have been negligible.

Now, however, the commission apparently is working on a comprehensive zoning plan for the township which probably will be presented to the citizens at open meetings some time this coming winter.
